

ABA TELEHEALTH TECHNOLOGY POLICY

UPDATED MARCH 2020

The following policy is for ABA Caregivers and clients regarding telehealth communication and practices with your clinician:

1. All technology for clients and caretakers for the use of telehealth is the property of Meaningful Day Services.
 - a. This includes all parts and accessories included with each piece of technology.
2. Clients and care takers are responsible for the upkeep of technology while it is in their possession.
3. Clients and caretakers are responsible for keeping technology and accessories charged for the use of telehealth services if applicable (ex. Ensuring tablet/wireless headphones are charged before each telehealth meeting).
4. Client and caretakers must inform Meaningful Day Services of any damage accrued while in possession of telehealth technology.
5. Technology provided by Meaningful Day Services may only be used by the client or caretaker for the use of telehealth services with Meaningful Day services.
6. If telehealth has been stopped in the home, the client or caretaker must return the technology at the appointment of the next scheduled session.
7. If client or caretaker does not return technology that was given for any purpose for Telehealth by Meaningful Day Services, the client or caretaker will be responsible for the cost of the technology not returned.
 - a. The cost will not exceed the original cost of technology given by Meaningful Day Services.
